Ivar's is one of Seattle's oldest and favorite restaurant companies, operating 62 locations in Washington, including Ivar's restaurants, seafood bars, and the Kidd Valley hamburger collection, and Grounders Garlic Fries. The company operates 18 locations in sports venues including seven at the Mariners' Safeco Field, six at the Seahawks' Qwest Field, five at Husky Stadium, and one in the Everett Events Center. In each stadium, the company's stores are the highest grossing stands—one of every 10 Mariner fans buys garlic fries! In addition, the company sells its World Famous White Clam chowder in about 10,000 locations nationwide and in China, Japan, and Mexico.

Bob Donegan has managed Ivar's since 9-11, when the company's prior managing partner died. Prior to that, Bob was the CFO of Ivar's. Prior to Ivar's, Bob was Executive Vice President and CFO of Peet's Coffee.
